NONOTE WINTER

Misheel has been living in the Czech Republic for six years – and for just as long, she has been devoted to digital drawing.

Misheel says: “I’m the kind of person who, when asked ‘How are you?’ or ‘What are you doing?’, simply replies: ‘I’m drawing.’”

ABOUT HER ART

She creates her illustrations using a mobile application. She started drawing on her phone and gradually moved to a tablet. She usually spends 8 to 24 hours on a single artwork, spread over two weeks or even months.

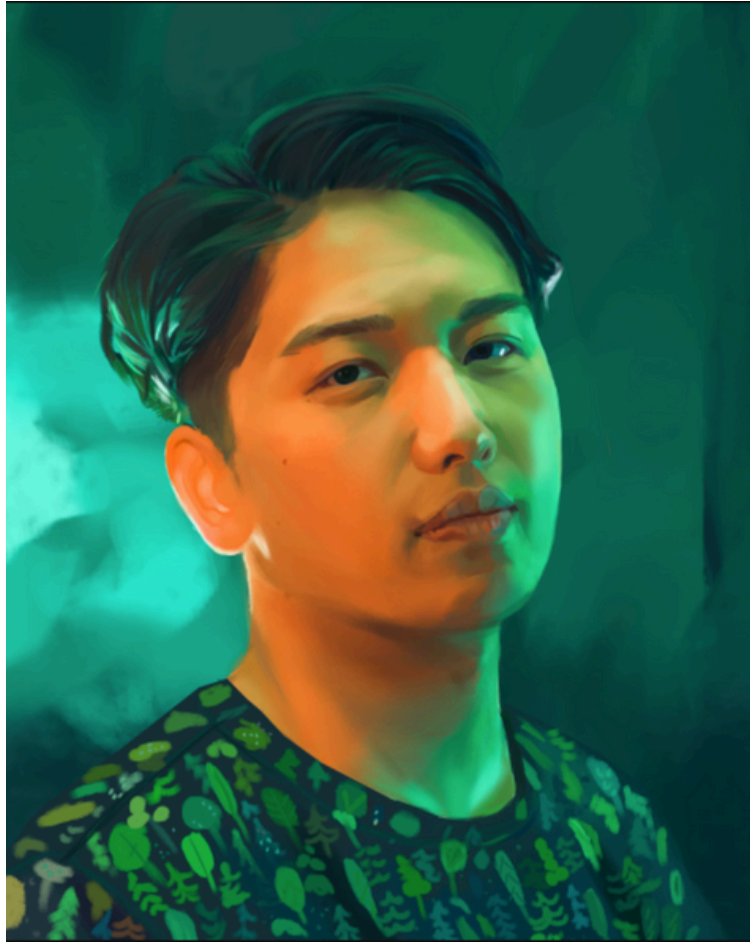

She prefers traditional drawing, but digital art gives her more freedom – it allows her to correct mistakes and refine details to achieve a more perfect result.

Seeing the finished piece always brings her joy.

BATBAYAR NYAMBAYAR

Since an early age, art has been the only way he could express his inner feelings.

On his journey of exploration, he has written poems, played the guitar, composed music, created digital paintings, directed music videos, and produced 3D art.

Each piece is a manifestation of an idea and the result of overcoming creative challenges – a reflection of the personal path he is walking.

In his work, he constantly strives for growth and remain open to new opportunities for collaboration and discovery.

SENSITIVITY
AND PERSEVERANCE

Nina was born in Mongolia and spent her childhood in the countryside with her grandparents — surrounded by peace, a garden, and the simplicity of rural life. This inner calm has stayed with her to this day and deeply shapes her sensitive, introspective view of the world.

She has been living in the Czech Republic for nine years, where she feels both at home and like a foreigner — between two cultures that continue to influence her perception and her art.

ABOUT HER ART

Her photographs are quiet, minimalist, and full of emotion.

Through them, she searches for balance — between simplicity and depth, between reality and dream.

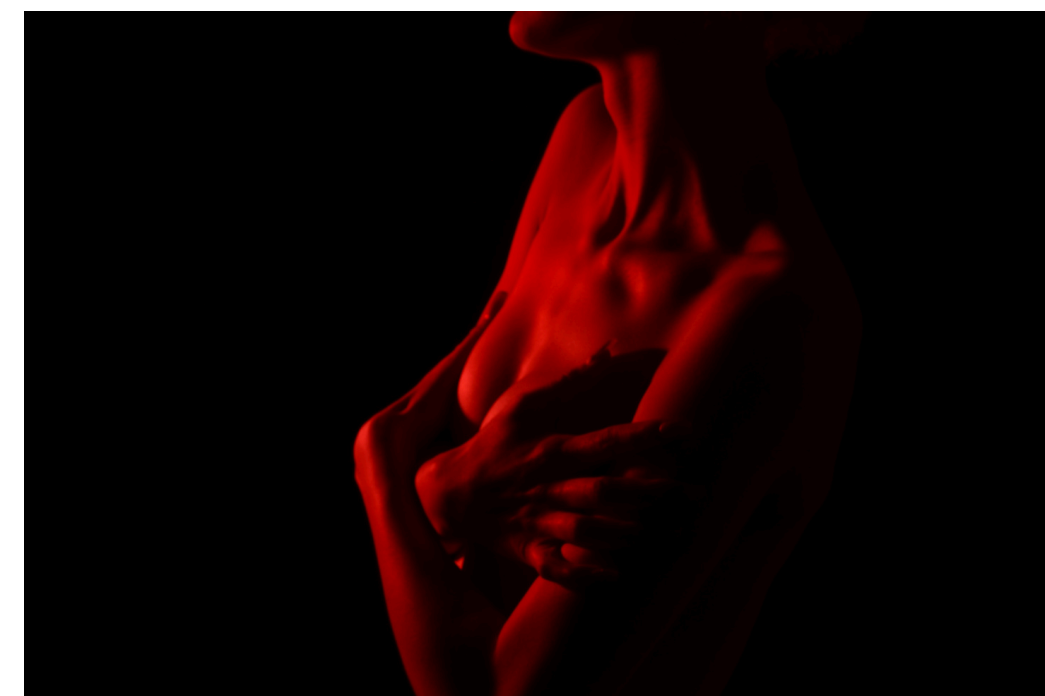

She is fascinated by the female body — its universality and uniqueness, its inner universe.

Each image is, for her, an exploration of hidden order within chaos — a way to grasp the beauty of silence and transform it into a visual form.

Phone: 776 513 737

Email: Lokitsoojoo@gmail.com

Photography found him long before he realized it. Since 2016, the camera has been his way of observing the world — not just as it is, but as he feels it. He captures quiet streets, open landscapes, and the small details of life that can speak without words.

Today, he lives in the Czech Republic with his wife and daughter, working as an operations manager and HR coordinator.

If his photographs awaken a sense of calm, curiosity, or wonder in someone, then his return to creating has found its meaning.

AND NOSTALGIA

BAYARMAA JAMBALDORJ

Bayarma has been living in the Czech Republic for seven years.

She currently resides in Roudnice nad Labem and works as an operator at a car equipment manufacturing plant in Lovosice.

At this exhibition, she presents a selection of pieces born purely from the joy of creation.
